

EXECUTIVE SUMMERY

1. Company overview
1.1 History	2
1.2 Products and services	4
1.3 Market share	6
1.4 Corporate reputation	7
1.5 Organizational structure	8
2. The Project
2.1 Project description	10
2.2 Project objectives	11
2.3 Project design	12
2.4 Project methodology	13
2.5 Project rational	15
2.6 Importance of the project	16
2.7 Project implementation strategy	17
3. Technology innovation and assessment
3.1 Concept	18
3.2 Type of technologies and machineries	19
3.3 Machinery evaluations	20
3.4 Type of technologies process	22
3.5 Process flowchart	23
3.6 Technical expertise	24
4. Strategic audit
4.1 Key audit findings	26
4.2 Key tools	28
5. Value chain analysis
5.1 Value chain	30
5.2 Value chain system analysis	32
5.3 Key findings	33
5.4 Value chain processes improvements	34
6. Evaluation of existing situation
6.1 Flexibility of the organization	36
6.2 Responsive of the organization	38
6.3 Agile of the organization	40
6.4 Recommendation	42
7. Project stakeholder
7.1 Farmer community	44
7.2 Supplier network	46
7.3 Buyer network	48
7.4 Regulatory institutions	50
7.5 Research entities	51
8. Project results
8.1 Expected impact	57
8.2 Project outcome	59

9. Agriculture sector
9.1 Global sector	61
9.2 Local sector	63
10. Business analysis
10.1 Global analysis	65
10.2 Local analysis	67
10.3 Maize silage industry analysis	69
10.4 Maize silage export market analysis	71
10.5 Maize silage local market analysis	73
10.6 Maize silage market trend	75
11. Competitive analysis
11.1 Global competitiveness	77
11.2 Local competitiveness	79
12. Risk analysis
12.1 Product risk	81
12.2 Market risk	82
12.3 Supplier risk	83
12.4 Farmer risk	85
12.5 Social risk	87
13. Resource plan
13.1 Manpower	88
13.2 Physical resources	89
13.3 Finance	90
14. Financial evaluation
14.1 Projected Income statement	91
14.2 Projected Cashflow statement	92
14.3 Project cost and financing	93
14.4 Calculation of NPV	94
14.5 Calculation of IRR	95
14.6 Calculation of PB	96
14.7 Breakeven analysis	97
14.8 Financial ratio analysis	98
15. Conclusion	99